HAWAI'I HOTEL & RESTAURANT SHOW POSTPONED TO MARCH 30 AND 31

HONOLULU – Official trade show of the Hawai'i Lodging & Tourism Association (HLTA) and Hawai'i Restaurant Association (HRA), the second annual Hawai'i Hotel & Restaurant Show is postponed until Wednesday and Thursday, March 30 through 31, 2022 at the Hawai'i Convention Center (1801 Kalakaua Avenue).

“In accordance with guidance from government and health authorities, we are postponing the Hawai'i Hotel & Restaurant Show until the last week of March next year,” said Mufi Hannemann, President and CEO of the Hawai'i Lodging & Tourism Association. “The safety of our members, attendees and the general public are our first priority. We look forward to continuing the Hawai'i Lodging & Tourism Association's partnership with the Hawai'i Restaurant Association and Honolulu Star-Advertiser ensuring that the next show will enhance and solidify our standing as having the premier hospitality trade show in the islands.”

“Hawaii's restaurants and hospitality industries are slowly emerging from the pandemic crisis but the road to recovery is long and challenging. We look forward to the annual Hawai'i Hotel and Restaurant Show acting as a key indicator of Hawaii's resiliency. Next year's show will present new and unique products from more vendors than ever. Guests can also expect relevant educational seminars by industry experts, live demonstrations as well as the latest trends in information technology and quality operations.” said Tom Jones, Past Chairman of the Hawai'i Restaurant Association and President & Co-Owner of REI Food Service, LLC dba Gyotaku Restaurants.

“Working closely with our partners, Hawaii’s newspaper is focused upon getting good information to the community quickly when they need it most,” said Dennis Francis, President and Publisher of the Honolulu Star-Advertiser. “We look forward to assisting HLTA and HRA with continuing recovery efforts and the return of this important industry event in 2022. The show is an all-inclusive resource bringing the best of Hawai'i and the Pacific Rim together. It can't be missed.”

The Hawai'i Hotel & Restaurant Show is for professionals and students in the lodging, travel, hospitality and food service industries including those employed by hotels, restaurants and related service companies.

Admission is free but attendees must pre-register online and be approved prior to arrival. Convention Center parking rates apply. Trolley shuttle service will also be available between a selection of Waikiki hotels and the convention center.
